

A Note from Pastor Mike

I remember when I was a kid sitting in service with my parents. I may not have understood everything said during those years, but I do remember that those services helped me see the importance of the Bible.

In elementary school I recieved a notebook, similar to this one, so I could take notes. That changed everything! I realized that I loved being able to listen and write down things that I found to be interesting. I kept that first notebook for many years and to this day I have learned so much by taking notes. I pray that this notebook will be something special that God will use to lead you on an exciting adventure into His Word.

An Encouragement for Parents

This notebook is a resource to help your child grow in Christ, but it's just a stepping stone for discipleship.

Discipleship doesn't mean having a full blown worship service in your house each week. It can simply be a regular, weekly conversation about the notes they took, the questions they have, or even the picture they drew in service. Along with the note page provided, the family time handout can be a helpful guide for family devotions and discussions.

Remember, it's not about creating a perfect experience but about faithfulness in sharing the truth of Scripture with your kids. They may not always listen or sit still during these times, but they will be thankful you did them in the years to come.
